++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cold and foggy overnight, with a patchy frost possible.

This Evening and Tonight:
Remaining cloudy into the evening, with showers arriving from the east. Showers ease overnight, and occasional clear spells in the west may allow a patchy frost and some icy patches to form. Feeling cold, with fog likely. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Monday:
A cloudy start with some clear spells, especially in the west. Scattered showers arrive in the east through morning, spreading south later. A drier afternoon, with clear spells. Feeling cold. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Largely dry and cloudy for Tuesday and Wednesday, but with spells of sunshine and showers. Turning wet with hill snow on Thursday. Remaining cold throughout, with overnight frost likely.
